

Sigma joins the United Nations Global Compact

San Pedro Garza Garcia, N.L. Mexico, December 21, 2021. Sigma is glad to announce that the company joined the United Nations Global Compact, the world's largest corporate sustainability initiative. This action is aligned with its Sustainability Strategy and is part of Sigma's Sustainability Journey. It also reaffirms its commitment to conduct business responsibly based upon four pillars of action: Health & Nutrition, Environment, Wellbeing and Shared Value.

Sigma's participation in the Global Compact follows the lead of the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and its 2025 Sustainability Commitments. Furthermore, the company's strategy considers global actions to promote and uphold human and labor rights, environmental care, and business ethics.

Rodrigo Fernández Martínez, Sigma's CEO, commented: "becoming a more sustainable company is our responsibility and allows us to sustain growth through time. We are committed to create value for our stakeholders, while fostering healthy lifestyles, using natural resources efficiently, and fulfilling our purpose of offering communities their favorite foods."

Some noteworthy achievements in line with these efforts include:

- More than 60% of the electricity used in our operations comes from cleaner or renewable energy sources, such as wind power, hydroelectric and solar.
- Since 2019, we have avoided over 5,300 tons of virgin plastic by introducing recycled plastic and reducing its use in our packaging.
- More than 19,200 tons of food from Sigma have been donated since 2015, which are equivalent to over 135 million servings.

About UN Global Compact

The UN Global Compact aims to mobilize a global movement of sustainable companies and stakeholders to create a better world. It supports companies to do business responsibly by aligning their strategies and operations with Ten Principles on human rights, labor, environment, and anti-corruption; and take strategic actions to advance broader societal goals, such as the UN Sustainable Development Goals, with an emphasis on collaboration and innovation.
